Better Relationships – One Couple at a Time

OKLAHOMA CITY – On Saturday, April 27th, couples from around the metro will gather for a one-day, “Forever. For Real.” workshop to learn how to communicate, manage expectations and keep the romance alive. This free event, from 10:00 am to 4:00 pm at the Skirvin Hilton Hotel in downtown Oklahoma City, encourages couples to commit to strengthen their own relationships in order to affect positive change in their community.

Dating, engaged, or married couples will be encouraged, enlightened and educated on developing and maintaining healthy marital and pre-marital relationships. Participants will learn tools to discuss without fussing, forgive and really mean it, keep the spark alive and more.

“There are so many things we learned - I’m not even sure where to start! We learned about communicating, fighting, loving, thinking...it was awesome!”

"This workshop is a stepping stone for creating a long-lasting, happy, fulfilling marriage."

Featured at the event will be this year’s Most Inspiring Couple, recognizing one Oklahoma couple whose relationship is inspirational.

Engaged couples who attend will save $45 on their marriage license, making the cost only $5. For information, visit ForeverForReal.com or call 877-435-8033.

The groundbreaking Oklahoma Marriage Initiative (OMI) is changing future generations by helping individuals and couples prepare for and sustain healthy relationships and marriages. Through the systematic, statewide deployment of its research-proven curriculum, Oklahomans are acquiring the skills and knowledge necessary for relationship resiliency and satisfaction. A comprehensive body of research is clear that adults and children will be the direct beneficiaries of the stronger, more stable families formed and supported by this effort and from a generation of youth and adults accustomed to being active learners and help-seekers for their most important relationships.
